

BUCKET LESSONS

Sharing Bucketfilling Ideas

Lesson #19, November 2009

Homework in a bag

1. Create a “bucket bag” and fill it with a notebook, a pen or pencil, and a copy of Have You Filled a Bucket Today?

2. Assign each child a night to take the bucket bag home to their family and have them read the book together.

3. Encourage parents and children to think of answers to the question, “How can we fill buckets in our community?” and write them in the notebook.

4. When the bucket bag has been returned for the final time, set aside some time to read the ideas aloud to the class.

This week’s lesson was sent by Kerri Lipe, third-grade teacher at Moore Magnet Elementary School in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

She has used our book, Have You Filled a Bucket Today? in her classroom for two years.

Kerri tells us that her school children and even her own children, who are two and four years old, understand what it means to fill buckets.

We’d love to share your bucketfilling idea or ideas with our readers.

Email us—

info@bucketfillers101.com

Be sure to include:

1. Your name, city and state
2. Name of your school
3. Grade and subject you teach
4. Photo(s) (optional) that illustrate your lesson(s)

Use this space to evaluate the lesson and/or summarize your preparations for it

